

metanoia:

The St. John's Spiritual Leadership Forum
a fundamental change of heart: embracing thoughts beyond current limitations

presents free of charge

Conversations with Chimpanzees: Transforming Our View of Nature

Dr. Mary Lee Jensvold

Chimpanzee & Human Communication Institute

Tuesday, November 11th, 7 to 8:30 PM
St. John's Episcopal Church 211 North Monroe, downtown enter from Calhoun Street between Tennessee & Call For reservation call 222-2636 x 22; Refreshments served

Dr. Mary Lee Jensvold, Associate Director, Chimpanzee & Human Communication Institute, studies communication and other behaviors in chimpanzees. She has been working with Washoe, the first chimpanzee to acquire a human language, and her family since 1986.

She specializes in ethological studies of Great Apes, animal intelligence, communication, and language. Her studies include chimpanzee conversational skills, imaginary play in chimpanzees, and environmental enrichment for captive chimpanzees. She is adjunct faculty for the Primate Behavior and Ecology Program and the Anthropology Department at Central Washington University.

Reading:

Dominion
Matthew Scully

Next of Kin
Roger Fouts

Recommended books are available at St. John's Bookstore, Call & Calhoun